The Only Breast Pad You Will Ever Need!

While breastfeeding many women experience extreme leakage, especially early on. Coupled with uncomfortable disposable breast pads that provide inadequate protection and often give an unflattering shape, moms often feel unsupported – literally. This is where the Breast Pad Ever by Milkies. These luxurious breast pads not only provide unrivaled leak protection with a spongy core capable of absorbing more milk than disposable nursing pads, they offer a flattering lift and support than many women need. This super convenient (just wash, dry and reuse), cost-effective solution is designed to help women look and feel their best while feeding their baby naturally.

Shaped to lift and support

Designed by breastfeeding moms for moms like you, the Breast Pad Ever provides the ultimate protection for even the leakiest breasts.

The spongy core is ultra-absorbent and shaped to fit your breast for gentle support. A durable outer layer and extra soft material keeps the pad in place, and won't allow milk to escape onto your clothes.

Easy to care for and ideal for busy moms. Machine or hand wash and air dry for best results.

A lot of woman breast feed which we all know is much better for the baby. This makes Mom take extra steps on a variety of issues, so we want to address 1 of them.

These Breast Pad Ever by Milkies are not disposable, they are here to help you throughout your breastfeeding time. You may even want more than one pair to match anything you wear, they come in both beige and black.

My daughter had Zoey on February 9th and she cannot wait to try these out. I have told her how thick they are at the bottom. They start out normal at the top, where you do not really need the protection and get a lot thicker at the bottom. The fabric is super absorbent. It is shaped to lift and support your breasts. This also helps to keep it in place. You can machine wash or wash by hand, and let air dry. No more leaking at the wrong times. The outer layer is leak-proof so I know that is good news to any breastfeeding Mom.
