July 2nd is Made in the USA Day! On this day, people are encouraged to consider buying products made in the USA. Buying American is good for our economy by creating jobs and increasing tax revenue and funds to Medicare and Social Security System. It's also good for the environment and human rights with strict regulations in the US that govern manufacturing and labor rights. When products are made overseas there is little to no regulation of working conditions. Sweatshops are notorious for child labor, forced labor and other human rights violations. Buying products made in America is a good way to avoid supporting these grave labor atrocities. Most countries manufacturing goods for sale in the USA also do not have environmental protections laws (or they are not enforced). Companies that keep their manufacturing in the United States are subject to EPA regulations to help protect the land, air and water. Additionally, a made in USA product's carbon footprint is smaller because it has less distance to travel to the consumer. Another important reason to buy American-made products is safety. Products made in America are tested and inspected for safety standards set by the Consumer Product Safety Commission. This helps protect our families from dangers posed by toxins, health risks and safety hazards. Buying locally also strengthens our communities. Supporting local shops helps promote the work of local craftsmen, small business owners and the future of manufacturing in America. When we support each other, we all win!

Show your patriotic side this July 2nd and beyond, by buying products made right here in the USA. There are a many great options to choose from, but here are some of our favorite American-made products:
